As an Associate in PilieroMazza's Business & Transactions Group, Paul solves legal problems using a client-centric approach. His diverse skillset supports positive outcomes for clients on matters involving all stages of a company's life cycle, including entity formation, corporate governance, and mergers and acquisitions.

Before law school, Paul developed his advocacy mindset as a United States Air Force combat pilot. He then honed his analytical skills as a strategy consultant solving complex issues for large organizations. Paul leverages this background in a range of settings to achieve client goals.

While in law school, Paul served as Managing Editor of the UC Davis Law Review. He also held an externship for the Honorable Kimberly J. Mueller, U.S. District Court, Eastern District of California.
